Welcome to Hauraki Primary Health Organisation (Hauraki PHO)

What is a Primary Health Organisation (PHO)?

Many people ask “What is a PHO and what does it do?”

A Primary Health Organisation (PHO) is a network of general practice teams working together to provide high-quality primary health services either directly or through its network of general practice (GP) teams. These services are designed to maintain and improve the health of the people enrolled with a GP team as part of a PHO population. The aim is to improve wellness in the community by supporting GP services and strengthening links with other health services to ensure that people can get the care they need when they need it.

Hauraki PHO receives taxpayer funding from the Ministry of Health through Waikato District Health Board to subsidise access to primary healthcare. These taxpayer subsidies lower the cost of GP visits for people enrolled in a PHO and assist people to maintain wellness. Additional funding is directed towards identified disadvantaged people and/or groups to ensure they get the health care they need

You can only be enrolled in one practice and one PHO at a time. The practice in which you are an enrolled patient will receive funding for you. If you visit another practice (for example, if you are away from home) you will be charged a higher consultation fee as a casual patient. Being enrolled with a PHO means you should receive cheaper doctor consultations if you visit your selected practice. If you do not hold a Community Services Card or a High Use Health Card you will be charged a much higher consultation fee when you visit another practice. You will also be able to receive subsidised prescription medicines.

To become an enrolled and funded patient, you will have to complete and sign a form (which your chosen medical centre will give you) for yourself and all family members under the age of 16 living with you. The form will require you to provide some personal details such as name, age, date of birth, address and chosen ethnicity (European, Maori, Asian etc) The information collected at enrolment is subject to the Privacy Act 1993 and the Health Information Privacy Code 1994, so the privacy of your information is protected.

National Health Index (NHI) number

The National Health Index has been part of the New Zealand health system for many years. The number is usually allocated to a person at birth. The National Health Index holds information on:

- names and addresses
- ethnicity, date of birth, date of death and gender
- New Zealand residency status

The NHI does not include specific health information or information about a persons visit to their provider.

Why is the NHI number used?

A NHI number will be added to the enrolment information for each person on a practice/PHO enrolment register. NHI numbers will ensure that PHO enrolment registers are accurate for funding purposes, e.g. they will prevent double payments to one PHO for the same person and payments to multiple providers for the same person.

The NHI also allows health professionals, involved in someone's care, to share health information without using a persons name and address. This protects a person's privacy and improves the quality of health information.
